ABOUT THE GLOBAL DEBATES INTENSIVE SUMMER CAMP

The Global Debates Intensive Summer Camp delivers a focused, one-week experience for students aged 12 to 17. Participants engage in an immersive journey of debate training and strategic thinking, designed to build confidence in public speaking, sharpen reasoning skills, and foster the ability to listen and respond thoughtfully. The camp adapts the Learn > Reflect > Apply > Showcase* approach inspired by the acclaimed Young Leaders' Program to scaffold the Summer Camp experience.

Each day of the camp is thoughtfully structured with a clear purpose. The first two days cover the essentials. Through interactive icebreakers and structured mini-debates, participants begin to construct compelling arguments, develop rhetorical skills, and explore the importance of body language and collaboration. They are encouraged to ask questions, challenge ideas, and support one another. On days three and four, the focus shifts to real-world topics, strategy techniques, and stimulating group activities. Participants examine current global issues, collaborate in teams, and practice analyzing challenges from a 360° perspective. The final day marks a celebration of progress and achievement. Campers step up on the stage to present their ideas in showcase debates, applying their new skills before an audience of peers and parents.

The Summer Camp embeds approaches such as natural learning, collective engagement, mutual support, and co-operative learning towards ensuring that the child is not forced to learn or to respond to any activity. The camp is designed to nurture natural curiosity and develop robust communication skills, democratic-leadership, social skills, debating skills, decision-making skills, collaborative skills by unleashing their competitive, logical, analytical, critical, and creative thinking. Attributes and skills that extend in applicability beyond just debate competitions. The Intensive Summer Camp in Berlin is offered in partnership with the Global Citizenship Foundation and bUm Berlin.

THE GLOBAL DEBATES PEDAGOGY

Global Debates believes in the ability of your child to learn, unlearn and relearn. Our pedagogical approach fosters effortless learning to minimize learner's fatigue through intentional and purpose-driven activities that are designed to disconnect the stress of learning from the activity. Most participants in the session, unless asked to perform a self-evaluation, would not even realize that they are learning!

We achieve this in a Global Debates session by:

- Engaging the natural learning abilities
- Providing a conducive environment to satiate the needs of survival and accomplishment.
- Reducing the pressure to learn or deliver by enabling children to immerse themselves in activities.

Global Debates enables the development of a whole child through an emphasis on social-emotional learning while developing communication skills, leadership skills, social skills, logical thinking, positive attitude, learning, and retention skills. Thereby offering complementary and essential learning and skill development experience aimed at a holistic emotional, intellectual and functional development of the child.

Disclaimer: Each child is offered personalized attention. Parental support is needed in assignments and follow-ups for desired outcomes. Overall objectives are achieved only with the child participating in all sessions and not missing any session.*

OUR APPROACH AND TECHNIQUES

The Global Debates' leverages on the diversity of the cohort to unlock the power and potential of collective engagement, natural learning processes, social pedagogy, co-operative learning, logical understanding, and mutual support.

We employ engaging, enriching, and fun activities such as interactive games, group activities, observations, campaigning, debates, discussions, drama, marketing and persuasion activities, thought challenge, research, storytelling, reading, writing, assignments, presentations, reflections, and indoor sports to achieve skills like decision-making, critical thinking, creative thinking, analytical thinking, logical thinking, and positive attributes such as collaboration, balanced perspectives, innovative-mindset, democratic-leadership, and global citizenship.

WHY HAVE THE GLOBAL DEBATES' EXPERIENCE?

Meeting Learners Where They Are

We provide a safe space where learners as young as six-years old can explore diverse perspectives and express their ideas. Using familiar tools, we guide them through a process that builds their ability to think critically, make informed decisions, and communicate clearly, all essential skills for academic and personal growth.

Deepening Social-Emotional Learning

Our approach challenges participants to develop empathy and respect by engaging with multiple viewpoints. Through carefully crafted narratives, learners build ethical decision-making skills as they confront complex situations, strengthening their ability to understand others while nurturing a reflective and compassionate mindset.

Enhancing Academic Performance

The Global Debates Experience sparks curiosity and cultivates a growth mindset. Participants develop the analytical skills needed for academic success by practicing evidence-based reasoning and constructing well-supported arguments, a key focus of examinations like the SAT.

Developing Better Thinkers

Participants experience demonstrable improvement in their critical, creative, analytical, and lateral thinking. Through our unique debate format and reflective practices, they learn to evaluate challenges from multiple perspectives, equipping them for real-world decision-making.

Shaping Thoughtful Decision-Makers

Global Debates equips participants to craft balanced arguments, gain a 360-degree understanding of issues, and process information logically and sensitively. It also builds leadership by boosting confidence, teamwork, and clarity through social-emotional development and collaborative activities such as strategy huddles and opinion-making.

Building Kinder, More Compassionate Brains

We challenge learners to move beyond simplistic black-and-white narratives by exploring the nuanced layers of complex topics. This method promotes the development of a compassionate mindset, as participants learn to appreciate diverse perspectives. In doing so, they cultivate empathy and a deeper understanding that transcends mere exchange of arguments.

Fostering Active Global Citizenship

Our program engages participants in global issues, including the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals, to build cultural awareness and ethical responsibility. Through structured debates and collaborative projects, learners deepen their understanding of diverse perspectives, equipping them to contribute meaningfully to local and international communities.

You might already do debating or public speaking at your school or university. If so, great. But the Global Debates approach is by design different from the usual debate training programs, which predominantly focus on public speaking. Debate education, done right, could transform a child into a more confident, empathetic, mindful, ethical, and critically aware individual.

HERE'S WHY WE CALL DEBATES AN INTELLECTUAL SPORT...

Debate isn't just about public speaking or arguments. It's a powerful exercise in developing thriving skills (such as empathy, mindfulness, compassion, and critical inquiry) through engaging in every level of Bloom's Taxonomy.

From recalling facts and understanding concepts to applying frameworks, analyzing diverse perspectives, evaluating evidence, and creating original arguments, debate challenges participants to use the full spectrum of their thinking abilities.

Bloom's Taxonomy is a well-established framework in education that outlines the different levels of thinking involved in learning.
